

A stylized illustration of an open book. The pages are white with black outlines. On the left page, there are three vertical columns of small circles, each column containing 10 circles. The right page also has three vertical columns of small circles, each column containing 10 circles. The text "War. War never changes" is written in a bold, cursive font across the center of the open book. The background is a solid light gray.

A black and white illustration of an open book. The left page features the text "War. War never changes" in a stylized, bold font. The right page is blank. The book is framed by a decorative border consisting of a series of small circles. At the bottom center, there is a small archway. The overall style is reminiscent of a mid-20th-century political poster.